Optimism of Will

The recent controversy over irregular deals in defense equipment, the complicity of national level politicians in colluding for personal gain, the out-of-way acquisition of land within the framework of old law combined with liberal and biased interpretation for personal appropriation, the indulgence of ministers in scams pertaining to food, health, rural employment, and even taking money for proxy jobs, the arrest of a number of ministers, etc., are full of tragic sarcasm and create an abhorrence thus pushing one to an abyss of apathy. This heralds the defeat of hope for a brilliant India.

But where hope may not succeed, the will shall triumph. The will shows the way. The will of people for clean governance, the will of the ordinary and the small to seek answers from the all-powerful, the atmosphere of shaming the big by not only arresting them but keeping them in well-deserved detentions, the forfeiture of property of those who are involved in amassing wealth recovered from their vaults and construction of palatial houses, are all indicators of will to rectify and erase marks of indiscipline in public administration. The narratives of small voices, through a certain act of will, reflected in refusal to grant power to those who betrayed the strength of institutions is a welcome sign. So-far-and-no-further is the modern leitmotif. The Right to Service Act in thirteen states, on the promptings of TI India, is another tool in the hands of people. These are all acts of will.

The disadvantage of 'hope' is that the act of hoping is not enough, though it is considered to be so. Hope is in the air, the will is on the ground seeking activity, reflexivity, and rebellion. The will to get out of trap of secrecy, the will to refuse denial of rights and contest the wrongs, the will not to tolerate injustice of any hue – gender, disability, geography, equality, development – is the only hope for sustainability and progress.

Let the warriors against corruption not hope in vain and live in a make-believe world. Let hope not be threatened by the enormity of the task. Let them strengthen the muscles of will by constantly exercising vigil, pursuit of positive ends, and commitment to a cause. Let the will triumph by consistent pursuit of the desirable and seeking improvement, howsoever piecemeal it may be. Small successes shall become victories in the end.

Obituary

Shri A. C. Talwani

TI India is deeply grieved at the passing away of Shri Arun Talwani, Vice Chairman, on 8 April 2012 after a brief illness.

Shri Talwani was a pillar of strength to the organization. A silent guide who was constantly involved with issues of integrity, he constantly sought the participation of the private sector companies in the adoption of Integrity Pact as his experience provided him the insight into the need for this move.

A study, under his guidance, on the evasion of stamp duty during transfer of property by undervaluing the transaction thus incurring a heavy loss to the government exchequer, led to a landmark decision of the Government of Delhi to introduce the concept of Area Circle Rates. This not only added to the revenues and but also reduced the onslaught of black money. TI India shall, forever, recall his contribution in this respect.

Besides his involvement with TII, Shri Talwani was closely associated with humanitarian activities of the Lok Sevak Sangh and various other outfits functioning at Lajpat Bhawan. Here was a life dedicated to the social causes. It was a fulfilled life of a committed man. He shall be missed.

Observations of Supreme Court in 2G Spectrum Case

In Dr. Suramanian Swamy vs. Dr. Manmohan Singh and another, Civil Appeal No. 1193 of 2012, the Honorable Supreme Court observed 'Today, corruption in our country not only poses a grave danger to the concept of constitutional governance, it also threatens the very foundation of Indian democracy and the Rule of Law. The magnitude of corruption in our public life is incompatible with the concept of a socialist, secular democratic republic It cannot be disputed that where corruption begins all rights end. Corruption devalues human rights, chokes development and undermines justice, liberty, equality, fraternity which are the core values in our preambular vision. Therefore, the duty of the Court is that any anti-corruption law has to be interpreted and worked out in such a fashion as to strengthen the fight against corruption. That is to say where two constructions are eminently reasonable, the court has to accept the one that seeks to eradicate corruption to the one which seeks to perpetuate it.' (Italics added)

On the issue of sanction to prosecute, the Supreme Court has suggested the parliament to consider constitutional imperative of Article 14 (due process of law) by 'introducing time limit in Section 19 of the PC Act 1988 for its working in a reasonable manner' by proposing the following guidelines for consideration:

- (a) All proposals for sanction placed before any Sanctioning Authority ..... must be decided within a period of three months of the receipt of the proposal by the concerned authority ...
- (b) Where consultation is required with the Attorney General or the Solicitor General or the Advocate General of the State ... and the same is not possible within the three months ..... an extension of one month may be allowed.....
- (c) At the end of the extended period of time limit, if no decision is taken, sanction will be deemed to have been granted to the proposal for prosecution .....
